

Statement of Impartiality

The National Cleaner Production Centre (NCPC) being the premier cleaner production solutions provider offering regular training and consultancy programmes and related services is geared for recognizing professionals in identified disciplines and widening their potentials in the industry.

Impartiality is one of the core values of NCPC and a key part of the Code of Ethics. Safeguarding the impartiality of activities delivered by NCPC in the Certification of Personnel under ISO/IEC 17024 is key to protecting the credibility, ensuring the satisfaction of certified persons

NCPC understands the importance of impartiality of its operations and manages conflict of interest of relationships that threaten impartiality to ensure objectivity of training, consultancy and certification. NCPC evaluates finances and sources of income and demonstrates that commercial, financial and other pressures do not compromise its impartiality at all the times.

As the Certification body, NCPC ensures that none of its assignments will cause any conflict of interests which would hinder the impartiality of activities. NCPC has a panel of the Technical Advisory Committee and the Certification committee, who oversees the rules and guidance of our impartiality process implemented and adhering to. Members of these committees' External experts and their impartiality in certification activities has been assured by obtaining confidentiality statements signed.

Confidentiality and Impartiality are further covered through signing the Confidentiality and Impartiality statement by all the certification staff in the NCPC certification management system. This ensures all certification activities are conducted in an independent and impartial manner.

.....
Samantha Kumarasena
Chief Executive Officer
National Cleaner Production Centre, Sri Lanka
(07/08/2024)